ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

This first series of District Handbooks on the West Bengal Government Plan Schemes has been brought out by the Evaluation Section of the Development & Planning Department, Government of West Bengal. This work undertaken on the Governor of West Bengal's directions has been made possible through the great enthusiasm displayed by the Evaluation Section led by Dr. A. C. Das. The ready cooperation of the departments involved has made this publication possible in this comparatively short space of time.

J. C. TALUKDAR
Development Commissioner

GOVERNOR OF WEST BENGAL

RAJ BHAVAN,
CALCUTTA.

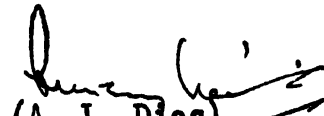

February 10, 1972.

It is important for our Development Plan to be made known to our basic administrative units - the District, the Block and the Anchal. I had, therefore, issued directions for District Handbooks to be prepared as quickly as the circumstances might permit to incorporate information about Plan Schemes pertaining to each District not only for the current financial year 1971-72 but also for the previous two years commencing from 1969-70. I am happy to see that the work has been undertaken very readily and, I hope, presented not only in a fairly comprehensive but an attractive manner.

There must necessarily be several shortcomings in this initial attempt where neither the Development Department nor others participating in our Plans have been accustomed to maintain information on physical and financial targets districtwise.

I have felt this work to be so important and useful that in order to serve a continuing purpose for the total Fourth Plan period three blank columns have found place to allow figures for the forthcoming years up to the end of the Fourth Plan to be incorporated.

I hope a few more publications on our Plan will be forthcoming in this financial year to indicate our physical achievements, our performance as analysed on a mid-term Fourth Plan review and a district break-up for the forthcoming year after the State Government's budget is finalised by our Legislature.
